

ASSASSINATION.

Man, Wife and Child Shot Down From Ambush.

Two of Four Men in the Assaulting Party Killed.

None of the Dead Lived to Tell Their Tale—The Head of the Family Has Been Considered a Dangerous Man—The Affair is a Mystery.

BIG STONE GAP, Va., May 17.—News reached here late Monday afternoon, from Pound Gap, a small place about twenty-five miles northwest of here, near the Kentucky line, of the terrible murder of five persons, committed from ambush. Three men, one woman, and one child were the victims of this awful crime, viz: Ira Mullins, wife and child, Wilson Mullins and John Chapel Moore. Ira Mullins and family were riding along, when, without any warning whatever, they were fired upon by a party from behind a large rock. Two other men were with Mullins when fired upon, but they escaped, and have not been seen since about an hour after the sad affair. None of the dead lived to tell their tale.

This is a very mysterious affair, as no one knows the cause of the shooting. Mrs. Mullins had about $1,000, which was taken from her, but it is thought this was done only to conceal the real motive of the crime. Ira Mullins was considered a dangerous man, and had several enemies, who, it is thought by some, killed him, because they were afraid of him, and had to kill the rest of the family to conceal the crime. Officers are on the trail of the murderers.

SENATOR BARBOUR'S FUNERAL.

The First Time in Which a Catholic Bishop Officiated in Congress.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The funeral of Senator Barbour, Monday, was the most gorgeous and impressive mortuary ceremony ever held in the senate chamber. It is worthy of notice as the first in which a cardinal of the Roman Catholic church ever officiated in congress by deputy or in person, with the full paraphernalia of Catholic ceremonial.

Bishop Keane's eulogy, delivered amid the fumes of ascending incense wafted from silver censers, the flickering of candles from golden candelabra on the improvised altar of the clerk's desk, the purple and silver of attending bishops, monsignors, priests and acolytes, was a carefully prepared and high tribute to the dead senator. It attracted marked attention and comment, not less by reason of the classical severity of its style than from the remarkable panegyric which was rendered to the Roman church itself. The occasion was a great one for the clericals. It was, perhaps, appropriate that it should have been so on ground dedicated more than a century and a half ago by Lord Baltimore, the Catholic proprietor, to civil and religious liberty. Families of the deceased members of congress are permitted to choose the form of ceremony under which their dead shall be buried from the capital. Senator Barbour happened to be the first senator of the Catholic connections who has been carried through the marble corridors of the capitol under the imposing ritual of the Roman church. His Episcopal eulogist faced Secretary Blaine, whose mother and daughter died in the same faith. Altogether the ceremonials were the most remarkable ever known in such connection in the history of the church.

AN AFFECTING SCENE.

The Young Wife of Van Loon Visits Him in His Penitentiary Cell.

COLUMBUS, O., May 17.—The young wife of Van Loon, the Columbus Grove murderer, spent the evening with her husband at the penitentiary annex Monday night. It was the first time she has visited her husband since he was placed in the slaughter pen, and their meeting was affecting in the extreme. The tearful young wife clung to the cruel bars which separated her from the husband, who is scarcely more than a bridegroom, and her form quivered with sobs of agony. Van Loon himself succeeded in preserving a stolid demeanor and presented a striking contrast of indifference to his wife's grief. During the evening the guards brought to the annex a Negro prisoner, who is an expert on the mouth harp, and a musical melody, reaching all the way from plantation love songs to religious hymns, entertained the condemned man.

BIG STRIKE.

The Granite Workers' Walk-Out a Stupendous Affair.

One of the Bitterest Contests Looked For in the East

That That Section Has Ever Known—A Hundred Thousand Men Will Be Idle—Heavy Damage Suits for Non-Fulfillment of Contracts Now in Order.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The lockout of the granite cutters, paving cutters and quarrymen bids fair to lead to one of the bitterest contests for supremacy that has ever taken place in the eastern states between employers and employees. The members of the Granite Manufacturers' association of New England have been preparing for the struggle since the men rejected their proposition to sign the yearly agreement January 1 last. Knowing that they would be locked out in May, the men having money and claim to be prepared to support themselves for several months. Both sides express a determination not to yield.

The strikes which will be ordered in all cities on buildings where New England granite is used is what will test the strength of the manufacturers more than the stoppage of the quarries, for it is said that in expectation of the struggle, they have large quantities of granite on hand. The walking delegate will order out all union men where non-union stone is being used, and unless the contractors can hire enough non-union men work on such building must stop.

Secretary James Grant of the National Pavers' Block Cutters' union, predicted that the manufacturers will not be able to hold out three weeks.

Mr. Grant said he had received information that there was great dissension among the manufacturers at their meeting in Boston on Saturday. He said some of the manufacturers who had large building contracts on hand wanted the lock-out postponed or abandoned altogether. They said their buildings must be completed by certain dates or they would have to pay heavy penalties, and if the men continued the fight any length of time the manufacturers would lose heavily. To hold these members firm, it is said, the manufacturers agreed that the association members should jointly bear the loss of any penalties.

It is expected that 100,000 men will be idle Monday.

The bottom was plugged up with lead, while the top was covered over with a red wax substance. From the top two copper wires protruded and between the wires was a fulminating cap. It was discovered by a boy, and an officer was called who removed it. It is said to be an evidence that the threats against Dr. Teed are not meant to be empty.

Resists the Prisoners' Bill at Cheyenne—More War 1st.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 17.—Gov. Barber has made known his intention to again refuse to deliver the prisoners of the rustler war to the Johnson county authorities. The second demand was made on Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Snider. The executive says he does not consider that quiet has been restored in the disturbed sections. He fears that there would be more serious trouble if the stockmen were taken to the scene of their crimes. The Johnson county people now at the railway have placed their grievances with Judge Black, in whose district they are located. He tells them that the law shall be duly respected; that he will insist on prosecution and defeat persecution. A secret agent in Johnson county by eastern men interested in the range up these reports in cipher telegram. He tells that "six-shooter weaning" is in full blast. This means branding calves and killing cows. The practice is comparatively new. The agent adds that the entire country is being patrolled by details of Frank Smith's buffalo home guards of 300 men. Another invasion is expected. It is reported that a large force of regulars is en route with four machine guns. This army will be given battle.

LEATHER OUTPUT.

Sole Tanneries in New York State to Shut Down.

BUFFALO, May 17.—All the principal sole tanneries in New York and east of Buffalo, numbering about one hundred and twenty, will shortly close for sixty days. So says Mr. Robert Keating, of Root & Keating, of this city, who was present at a meeting of tanners in New York last week, when this decision was reached. Mr. Keating says there has been considerable overproduction of hides during the last two years. Trade is dull, and hides and leather are cheaper to-day than for the past twenty-five years. The shut down is to begin on a day previous to June 1. The effect of this suspension will be a reduction of the output of hides to the extent of 350,000 hides a week, or about 2,000,000 hides in sixty days. It is said at the end of that time the surplus leather will have been taken, and the market will resume its normal condition where the supply and demand are equal, and prices will likely advance. About 5,000 workmen will be made idle by the shut down.
